

Have you ever recorded a TV show with your VCR?The regulations the FCC is considering passing to prevent "piracy" would keep this from being possible without buying "pirate" recording equipment. Additionally, it does little to prevent "piracy," because it only takes one man with "pirate" equipment to make a unrecordable-flagged program available for free to all via the Internet.